

CHARLES J. SEABROOK

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Monday at the Wade Memorial Chapel in Lake View Cemetery for Charles J. Seabrook, former Cleveland insurance man. He died in Miami Beach, Fla., on Feb. 23 after living there for the last seven years.

Mr. Seabrook, who was 92, was born in Charlestown, in Portage County. In early years he served as a United States government commissioner on a western reservation. In 1890 he was associated with the Cleveland Press in its business management. He joined George H. Olmsted in 1892 in the insurance business and retained this connection until the time of his death.

He had been a member of the Union Club since 1902, was long a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church and donated the bells in the new church on Cleveland Heights. He married Miss Fanny Stanley, sister of the late John J. Stanley. She died in 1937. No near relatives survive.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of the J. H. Broen & Son, funeral directors, 8128 Carnegie Avenue S. E.
